

Did You Know

By Pat J. Kirwin

THAT newspaper editors of 60 years ago aspired to be philosophers as well, and on many occasions took advantage of their positions to offer advice in various matters. E. Z. Hays, editor of The Circleville Herald and Union, from 1869-1872, always took occasion to lecture the newly-weds through the columns of his newspaper. In an issue of the paper of December, 1871, Mr. Hays carried the marriage license of George E. Dreisbach and Miss Julia E. Pareels, and under it he philosophized as follows:

"George and Julia, allow us to congratulate you in the new relation you have assumed, wishing you all the blessings which a union of hearts and hands can possibly be crowned. And while we hope that your future lives may be full of sunshine, equaling fully, the day of your union, we feel that if a cloud should now and then shadow your pathway, affection will give it a silver lining. May you have a joyous bridal trip, and your journey through life over pleasant roads, without any impediments, energy and affection not easily overcome."

That one of the outstanding developments in the handling of grain introduced in Circleville in February, 1872, was a dumping device for unloading wagons, replacing the former method of shoveling the grain from the wagons. Newspapers of the time heralded the "new dumper" as the greatest step in the improvement of the grain industry. The Herald of the time commented as follows: "Marfield and Stage are building at their warehouse one of the greatest improvements for handling corn that we've ever seen and one that will be very much to their credit. The enterprise consists of a dump for unloading wagons loaded with corn, saving the labor of shoveling it out. All that must be done by farmers who come to the plant is to take the end out of their wagons and the whole load is discharged in a few seconds."

THAT here was the news in Circleville 62 years ago—February, 1872:

"The Park brothers, Wilson and Abraham, have left for Indiana, and as a consequence, 'order reigns in Warsaw.'"

"A little girl named Maggie Lane while engaged in the popular pastime of sliding down the stair banisters of the Union School, fell and broke her leg."

"The police are almost discouraged by the dizziness which has prevailed in their department since the holidays. About the only thing they have to do, is draw their breath—and their pay."

"Five colored boys of Chillicothe visited Circleville on skates, leaving Chillicothe at 10 o'clock in the morning, spending one hour for dinner, and returning to the Ross-co city by 6 o'clock the evening of the same day. Distance 44 miles."

"A large part of Circleville's population is spending Sundays down at the river dam fishing, instead of attending services at the churches."

"One hundred and fifty kegs of Cincinnati lager beer came up on the night express train. This will make things glorious for the 'boys' who have had to bring themselves down to poor water and whiskey."

"Burnie Walling, son of A. T. Walling, this city, has received the appointment of cadet to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis."

NAMES CERTIFIED

Shaner Issues Orders to Fire Department

The reorganization of Circleville's police department will be announced next Wednesday and will become effective, Thursday, Feb. 1, Mayor William B. Cady declared Saturday.

"I do not intend to make known publicly the names of the new officers until next Wednesday," the Mayor said.

In the new order Officer Tom McManamy will go to day desk duty being transferred from a night patrolman's job. A new man will be named to take his place and another new man added.

TO HIRE ENGINEER

CHILLICOTHE, Jan. 27.—A special meeting of the city council is expected to be held next week to pass legislation to employ Burns & McDonald, Cincinnati engineers, to make a gas survey of the city for rate purposes. The engineers will receive $2,600 for the survey.

The council recently passed a 48-cent rate in defiance of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

Officers until next Wednesday," the Mayor said.

CADDY, SHANER CONFER

The list of names and grades of men who took the civil service examination have been certified to the mayor and the appointments are now up to him. He and Safety Director Leroy T. Shaner have conferred several times on the personnel of the reorganized forces of law and order, but as yet nothing has been forthcoming. Mayor Cady, if he has decided upon the two new policemen, has been guarding their identity just as he guarded the names of his safety service directors and other appointees before he took office.

He plans to make appointments which he believes "will work out to the best advantage of all concerned."

SPECIAL ORDERS

Special order No. 1 has been issued to the fire department by Safety Director Shaner.

They are:

1. The fire truck shall not be operated more than 25 miles an hour in the city limits.

2. No fireman shall hold a job for pay other than his regular fire department job.

3. Fireman Thomas Strawser shall be in charge at the engine house anytime that Chief Talmer Wise is absent.

FILIPINO FACING ASSAULT CHARGES

MANILA, P. N., Jan. 27.—Justice of the Peace Cavitt today set Feb. 5 as the date for the trial of Fortunato Torres, who is charged with criminally attacking Mrs. Walter Awe, 24, Los Angeles, wife of a second class quartermaster attached to the U. S. S. Whipple now stationed at Cebu.

Mrs. Awe told officers that Torres first attacked her Jan. 5 near the U. S. marine corps barracks. The second attack, she said, occurred Jan. 19 after which marriage was formed a party to search for Torres who escaped. He later was arrested and released on bond pending trial.

Torres could not be located yesterday.

ACTRESS TO WED
AUSTRALIAN STAR

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 27.—Wedding bells were expected to ring for Maurice O'Sullivan, pretty Irish film star, and John Farrow, Australian born film scenarist.

Friends of Farrow said today that he had gone to Mexico, Mexico, to re-enter the United States in compliance with immigration formality.

"Sure, we're engaged, all right," admitted winsome Maurice. "As to when the wedding will be, I can't say, for I don't know myself. But whether 'tis soon or later, I'm that happy about it."

Power Rate Refused

DEFIANCE, Jan. 27.—Objection to a five-year contract, the Defiance city council today had refused the proposal of the Toledo Edison Co., offering reduced rates for electric current.

The proposal offered by the utility was one which had been extended prior to December 5 when a plan for a municipal plant was defeated at a referendum election.

123 SHEEP KILLED
IN MT. VERNON FIRE

MT. VERNON, Jan. 27.—Believed to be of incendiary origin, fire today destroyed a sheep barn on the farm of O. L. Ashcraft, former Knox-co representative in the state legislature, burning to death 123 sheep.

Although the exact origin of the fire could not be determined, it was believed possible that the blaze was incendiary. Ashcraft said that tramps had been sleeping in the barn recently.

ARMY FIGHTS
CWA GRAFTINGHopkins, Too, Presses Vigorously; Ohio's Condition
Receives Praise.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—An amazing manipulation involving blanket distribution of jobs by Boston politicians was revealed today as Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins vigorously pressed his campaign to drive graft and political favoritism from the Civil Works administration.

While department of interior secret agents sought to find the "higher ups" in the Boston scandal, Hopkins announced the army had been enlisted in the war on graft.

Army engineers will take over administration of CWA and FEPA funds in those large cities where the relief job requires men who will resist graft and political pressure, Hopkins said.

The first appointment announced was that of Major Donald H. Connolly, U. S. engineers, attached to Fort Leavenworth, Kans., who will take charge in Los Angeles, Cal.

It was revealed that among other charges for which substitution has been found in several cities, there has been "racketeering" by labor organizations.

The scheme was to force CWA workers to join unions and pay dues ranging from $1 to $4 per month.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 27.—Although army officers have been instructed to take charge of the CWA work in some states, the civil works administration in Ohio will remain "as is," it was understood here today.

It was pointed out here that the situation in Ohio is not as that existing in certain other states where allegations of scandal and corruption have been made.

As a matter of fact, the Ohio CWA program has been under military direction right along with Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson heading the administration and with Major E. O. Braught, serving as executive director.

Association Urges They Be Abolished; Favor Division of Common Pleas.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 27.—The Ohio Bar Association today knocked the props from under justice of the peace courts in the state and urged their abolition.

Meeting here in its annual mid-year convention, the association lashed out against the courts of justices as "places of business or rackets carried on by the justice of peace and constables for their profit."

Legislation to wipe the courts of justices off the roster of justice-dispensing agencies in Ohio will be prepared by a sub-committee of the association and submitted to the mid-summer convention of the organization after which, if approved, it will be laid before the state legislature.

As a substitute to the justice of peace courts, a proposal was made by Henry C. Binns of Columbus, chairman of the sub-committee, that a division of the common pleas court be set up in each county to be known as the "division of conciliation, arbitration and minor trials."

The entertainment will vary in different communities, ranging all the way from fancy dress balls, plain dances, cake walks, barn and square dances and bridge contests to devotional exercises, according to Watson.

At a meeting of Watson with the governor and other state officials, finishing touches were added to plans for celebrations in practically every county.

"We expect to be the grand part of the state is to play in this crusade against infantile paralysis," Watson said.

Fraternal, civic, labor, industrial and social groups numbering 130 are actively engaged in helping to make the event a success.

Seven Present Officers
Expected to Run

With Marion Sensenbrenner leading the way by tossing his hat into the ring for the Republican nomination for representative, the political bee is buzzing rather gayly in the bonnets of a number of office-holders and office seekers.

The county home rule amendment voted at the November election cleared the way for a sheriff to seek his third consecutive term, so it would not be surprising to see Sheriff Charles Radcliff make an announcement within a short time. Earl L. Hoffman, treasurer, too, is expected to announce himself for a third term.

Then comes another third term possibility, Nathan Bohner, Monroe-twp representative in the general assembly.

WHITE TO RUN AGAIN

Clifford M. White, who completes his first four-year term as auditor this year, is certain to be a candidate for re-election, and so is Ray W. Davis, prosecuting attorney, who is now on the second year of his first term.

A. L. "Dick" Wilder, named by the county commissioners to complete the unexpired term of Ferd M. Pickens, is expected to be a candidate for his first term.

John W. Hay, Harrison-twp, is the only member of the board of commissioners who finds his term nearing its end. He is expected to run for a second four-year term. Burr Radler and Ralph May have two more years to go.

The position of common pleas judge also comes up for election and Judge J. W. Adkins is certain to seek his second six-year term.

Two officers besides the commissioners do not need to run this year. They are Probate Judge C.

A short but enthusiastic meeting was held Friday evening by the general committee for the President's Ball. The event will be staged Tuesday evening with a modern dance in the C. A. C. hall, and card playing also there.

Chairmen of various committees were called upon to report and all said their plans were progressing nicely.

Senet Cryder was appointed chairman of the refreshment committee. He will serve sandwiches and coffee.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 27.—Some 250,000 Ohioans will honor President Roosevelt and aid the Warm Springs, Ga., Foundation next Tuesday, Emile E. Watson, state chairman of the President's Birthday Ball committee, estimated today.

At a meeting of Watson with the governor and other state officials, finishing touches were added to plans for celebrations in practically every county.

Russo-Jap War Seen in Spring

General Hayashi

Commissar Voroshilov

That war with Japan is regarded as inevitable this coming Spring is indicated by reports reaching London that the Soviet Government is concentrating large supplies of food, munitions and aircraft at Vladivostok, the Russian seaport that is only 700 miles from Tokyo. Commissar of War Clemence Voroshilov is reported to have been utilizing the Trans-Siberian Railroad for many months for the transportation of men and munitions to the port that it is believed would be the first objective of a Japanese attack. Observers say the torch that may fire the magazine may be the coronation of Henry Pu-Yi as emperor of the Japanese-controlled state of Manchukuo on March 1. In announcing he would follow the policies of his predecessor, General Sadao Araki, the new Japanese Minister of War, General Senguro Hayashi is believed to have dispelled the hopes of peace that were born with Araki's resignation.

3 Bandits Raid
Police Arsenal

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—Three bandits, one of them masked, today raided the state police exhibit at the Boston Automobile show, in the basement of Mechanics building, bound up two watchmen, and escaped with machine guns, shotguns, rifles, pistols, several hundred rounds of ammunition and tear gas bombs.

An alarm raised by a suspicious pedestrian led to discovery of the robbery a few minutes after the trio had escaped in a heavy sedan parked outside. A state-wide police radio and teletype broadcast was sent out.

The two watchmen who were bound and gagged were George Mason, of Brookline, and Lucien Kerkian. They were found trussed up against a motor bus on display. The bandits had apparently hidden for several hours in one of the trucks on exhibit in the basement.

A checkup by state police shortly after the exhibit was stolen, revealed that there had been between 18 and 20 pieces of firearms on display. Included among them were about four of the latest type machine guns. All of the weapons were recently purchased, and formed a part of the most modern equipment of the state police. The only movable thing left by the bandits was a portable radio.

Police were hunting the city for three other members of the notorious gang including John Hamilton, ex-convict from Indiana, reported in hiding here.

Under a telegraphic warrant from Illinois-county officials planned to re-arrest Ann Martin, arrested with Dillinger and at first listed as his wife in an effort to have her bail raised from $5,000 to $100,000. The woman is named as a suspect in an Illinois murder.

Two other women, Opal Long and Mary Kinder Pierpont, arrested with the gangsters, were held under $5,000 bail for obstructing officers in performance of their duties.

Conducting an independent investigation, Police Chief C. A. Wolard revealed that he and his officers were endeavoring to trace the departures from the middle west and arrivals in Tucson of members of the gang which may link them with the Edward Bremer kidnapping in St. Paul, Minn.

Bremer now is held for $200,000 ransom.

TUSCON, Ariz., Jan. 27.—Hard riding fast shooting men of the desert range country today flung down a challenge of death to the John Dillinger gang of hardened desperadoes.

"Your jail is only a timber box. We'll crack it wide open," sneered Harry Pierpont, "rub out man" of the gang.

"Go ahead and try," replied the grandsons of vigilantes who ruled old Arizona to the tune of whistling bullets, "and we'll shoot to kill."

Thirty crack marksmen surrounded the jail to guard against possible escape attempts by Dillinger, Pierpont, Charles Makley, and Russell Clark, arrested in police traps here and wanted in several midwestern states for crimes that include bank robbery, a break from the Michigan City, Ind., prison, a jail break, and murder.

Four are held under $100,000 bail each pending a hearing Tuesday.

TRY TO DELAY TRIP

While officials of midwestern states including Ohio and Wisconsin were racing here by airplane and train to wage a battle for the extradition of Dillinger and his gang, the prisoners by a series of legal maneuvers including habeas corpus proceedings were "stalling for time," police said in hopes of delaying the trip east for at least a week.

Indiana state police headed by Capt. Matt Leach were expected to arrive here today to ask Gov. B. B. Moore for immediate extradition.

Gov. Moore came here from Phoenix, the state capital and promised to expedite the extradition proceedings.

Extra guards were posted at the airport to prevent any more of Dillinger's gang from landing here for a possible rescue attempt. Dillinger engineered the break of 10 convicts from the Indiana prison, and members of his gang freed him from the Lima, O., jail with the resultant murder of Sheriff Jess Sarber.

GROCE HEADS
LIBRARY BD.Directors Meet Friday Afternoon; Rife Is Selected Vice President.

Col. C. E. Groce, S. Court-st., was re-elected president of the Public Library board, Friday afternoon, when the annual organization meeting was conducted.

S. T. Rife, N. Pickaway-st., was named vice president succeeding Lawrence Gopher who remains as a member of the board.

Others on the library board are E. L. Daley, Miss Nell Weidman, and Mrs. E. L. Price.

For the first time in its history the library and its services are available to all residents of Pickaway-co under the same terms as those applying to residents of Circleville. The step follows a change in Ohio laws, governing the support of public libraries.

The library, efficiently managed by Miss Weidman, now possesses over 26,000 volumes.

Germany For South Atlantic Mail Business.

ROME, Jan. 27.—Italy today joined France and Germany in the race for lucrative trans-Atlantic air mail contracts as four Italian flyers left Montecelio airfield on an experimental thrashy, 6,000-mile flight to Buenos Aires, Argentina.

Carrying letters from Premier Benito Mussolini and King Victor Emmanuel to President Justo of Argentina, the airmen took off at 6:42 a. m. (12:42 a. m. E. S. T.). Count Carlo Mazzotti and Francesco Lombardi, noted pilots, were at the controls, while a mechanic and radio operator completed the crew.

Casablanca, Morocco, was the first scheduled stop. From there the route was to Dakar, Senegal, on the West African coast, across the South Atlantic to Natal, Brazil, southward along the Brazilian coast to Rio De Janeiro, and then further south to Buenos Aires.

If the trip is made in the scheduled three days the flyers will set a new record for carrying mail. The plane was not equipped with pontoons for an ocean landing.

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

Cavanaugh suddenly was standing on the balls of his feet like a prize fighter.

"Keep away, Mulrooney!" Cavanaugh said with a strange quiet in his voice. "You'll never put those things on me!"

Mulrooney with the handcuffs dangling and glistening stepped forward.

A square, white stone was flung through the air—only it wasn't a stone—it was Lucky Cavanaugh's compact fist, heavy and swift. Its full velocity smashed with a sharp crack squarely upon the broadness of Mulrooney's chin. The whole weight of Cavanaugh's body was behind it. When it landed the shock ran through his arm clear to the shoulder.

For a moment the detective remained standing opposite him with a glassy expression in his eyes. Then his knees began to melt and he fell to the thick pile of the heavy carpet, pitching forward face downward. One of his legs was kicking spasmodically like a knocked-out pugilist trying to regain his feet.

The man on the carpet made no sound. The kicking leg quieted down. In such a condition it would be a matter of minutes, rather of seconds, before consciousness came back.

Luni Luniska made no outcry, no exclamation of excitement.

"Tell me what you want to do now," she said in a muffled voice, devoid of fear.

Cavanaugh took one deep breath. The same hand that had felled Mulrooney patted Luni consolingly on the back.

"Take care of him when he comes to. Say as little as possible. Tell him I went out the back way. And don't worry."

Luni gave an understanding nod. "I'll wait and I won't worry," she said out of the depths of her courage.

She did not move from where she was standing until Cavanaugh had vanished into the hallway. Only when he had definitely become a fugitive did she bend over Mulrooney.

The detective was breathing jerkily as his lungs labored for air. She found a pillow, rolled him over and put it under his head.

Mulrooney lay as though in sleep. He was unconscious, knocked out, but he was in no pain and in no danger. Some instinct told Luni that he was all right because his breathing was improving.

There was an encouraging flutter of his eye lids. In a minute or two he would awaken. The longer he stayed unconscious, the more time remained for Cavanaugh to get away.

That was a terribly foolish thing for Lucky to do, thought Luni. It is all my fault. He cannot come near me without getting into trouble. I am mad about him and I know he is mad about me. We are both sinking in an ocean of trouble yet my heart sings as a lark above a meadow. I am either a very good woman or a very wicked woman. I do not know which.

Looking at Mulrooney's face which had been pale and was now beginning to darken, Luni wondered what Mrs. Mulrooney would think if she could see her husband stretched out in this fashion. Poor woman! Perhaps she lived in constant terror because of her husband's business.

The Mulrooneys, Luni decided, were not bad people. Even as much as she loved Lucky, she could not find it in her heart to think ill of the middle-aged man stretched out upon her expensive carpet. It was a hard life he lived and his salary, probably, was very small. Sometime I am going to send Mrs. Mulrooney a nice present, she thought, and something for the four children, too.

Then, suddenly, Mulrooney opened his eyes and knew where he was. It took him a few seconds longer to remember what had happened. Without any assistance from Luni, he got to his feet. At the knees, however, he had a rubbery sensation.

"Where did he go?" were his first words, slightly blurred.

It occurred to Luni that she should delay him as long as possible.

"Sit down, please," she said eagerly. "There was an accident. Let me get you something—a drink of water!"

Mulrooney shook his head vigorously to clear it and moved with uncertain steps toward the door.

"Which way did he go?" he demanded.

The handcuffs lay forgotten on the carpet.

Mulrooney stalked from the room, baited, dazed, furious. Luni, shrugging her shoulders, made no effort to stop him. What was the good? Her instinct—Cavanaugh would have called it her hunch—told her Mulrooney was not going to have luck.

Mulrooney's head was still addled as he went into the hall and from there out of doors. His car was still standing at the curb. He looked up and down the street. No one was in sight except a colored nursemaid with two children.

The detective was not certain how long he had been unconscious. There had been sufficient time, no doubt, for Cavanaugh to have turned a corner and gone in either direction. Perhaps he had cut out at the back and disappeared into the next street.

Luni, standing in the doorway, waited for Mulrooney to return. It was curious, she felt no regret at what was going to happen to her personally. She had done her best, but it had not been sufficient.

Perhaps Mulrooney would arrest her and take her to headquarters. That, of course, would be the definite end to all of the motion picture business—the final fade-out. What did it matter? She had been through so much that life had lost its reality and was becoming a wavering, uncontrolled dream. Yet, somewhere, mysteriously, there was that lark note of happiness deeply hidden in her secret self.

Mulrooney came back to her with his dazed and troubled eyes. In a minor way, she couldn't help but feel sorry for him.

"You better let me fix you something, really," she said, standing aside to let him enter the house.

He walked straight into the living room without answering. He found his hat on a chair, and picked up his glistening handcuffs. Luni was behind him discreetly. At last he was brought to look at her.

"It's a shame," he said in an amazingly calm voice. "For your sake, I mean. Too bad, you're in love with that bird."

She was able, without effort, to match his calmness.

"On the contrary, it's the nicest thing I can imagine," she replied. "Nobody can put the lug on me like that and get away with it."

Mulrooney told her, stowing the handcuffs away under his coat at the rear. "We'll get him within twenty-four hours and heaven help him then!"

There was no use arguing with the man now. Whatever she would ask him, would be more out of curiosity than anything else.

"About myself—am I under arrest? For complicity?"

"No—not yet anyway," said Mulrooney. "I'm going to get Cavanaugh first."

"I don't believe I'd do that," remarked Luni quietly.

He ignored her words. "Where's your telephone?"

"Why?"

"Why? Inside of two minutes I'll have every radio police car in the city on the look-out for your handsome friend. We'll get him, don't worry."

"I'm not worrying," said Luni smoothly. "But I think you are. None of this would have happened if you had listened to me—do you realize that?"

Mulrooney looked at her with sullen and heavy eyes.

"If I listen to any more of your advice I'll wind up pounding a beat," he said. "Whose idea was it to bring Cavanaugh out here anyway?"

Luni's shoulders in their cloth of gold jacket shrugged with a small foreign air.

"As you please, Mr. Mulrooney. I think you are making a mistake though. As long as Lucky is at liberty, you can depend upon it, he'll do his best to catch the man you're after."

"Oh, he will, will he?"

"He said he would—and that's quite good enough for me. I have an idea, too, that he'll succeed. Of course, if you put him in jail, that ends it. Are you going to let it be known generally that he escaped from your hands? I should think it would be rather a humiliating confession for an officer of your reputation to make—"

Luni found it astonishing to herself that she was able under these circumstances to banter Mulrooney. Perhaps it was because she had relaxed and was no longer trying to accomplish anything in particular.

"Where is that telephone?"

Luni conducted him to it. There was not the faintest use in combating his angry obstinacy.

She would not even stay to listen to Mulrooney's conversation with headquarters. It is out of my hands, she thought. There is nothing but to meet the result decently. I would like to have my own way about all this—but there is no longer any point in arguing. With an angry policeman.

She yawned a little because, in truth, she was somewhat short of sleep. I'll go upstairs, she decided, and lie down. Mulrooney can leave whenever he pleases. I've been rowing the boat upstream all these years. Now I'm going to put down the oars and let it drift.

Peptic Ulcer A Common Ailment

With Proper Diet and Care a Complete Cure Is Possible

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
 United States senator from New York
 Former Commissioner of Health,
 New York City

NOT SO long ago I told you about the hundredth anniversary of the publication of a book by Dr. Beaumont. It was pointed out that this was the first accurate, scientific description of the processes of digestion as they occur in the stomach.

Today I want to tell you about "peptic ulcer," or ulcer of the stomach. This is a common ailment and for many years was confused with other stomach disturbances.

As I have said, little was known concerning the action of the juices of the stomach. Maladies of the stomach were erroneously diagnosed and little treatment could be offered the victims of these disorders. Such words as "dyspepsia," "sour stomach" and "hyperacidity" were vaguely used and the victims in desperation resorted to the old-fashioned remedy of baking soda. As a rule this gave relief, but only of a temporary nature.

Fortunately, following Beaumont's epoch making discovery, rapid strides were made in a scientific understanding of the action of the stomach. This, together with the invention of the X-ray machine, permitted physicians accurately to diagnose and treat certain disorders.

Today we know that peptic ulcer is a definite disease of the lining of the stomach. With proper diet and medication, relief and complete cure are possible.

Of course, in many instances, cure is only possible by means of surgery. Here, too, the improved skill of the modern surgeon enables the victim to be safely relieved of his disability. In former times the afflicted individual was unable to take nourishing food because of the severe pain it caused. He soon became undernourished, weakened, and susceptible to infections that proved fatal.

Though the cause of peptic ulcer has not yet been satisfactorily explained, it is probable that it is the result of various factors. General lack of resistance, injury to the lining of the stomach, abnormal digestive action of the pepsin and hydrochloric acid of the stomach, increased nervous tension, infection and constitutional disorders, are factors that must be considered.

Don't Delay Treatment
 As a rule, the condition is most frequently found in young and adult people. It may be acute or chronic. Acute ulcer usually occurs in conjunction with some infection or a chronic wasting disease. The chronic form is likely to follow and may persist for many years.

The sufferer from this ailment complains of pain in the region of the stomach. This pain occurs two or three hours after eating. The pain is accompanied by irritability, nausea, eructations or vomiting.

If you are a sufferer from indigestion, nausea or "biliousness," or have gastric pain, I would advise you to consult with your doctor. Do not neglect the matter and above all, refrain from placing full reliance on home remedies. In many instances delay leads to serious ailments.

Complete, Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart Included
PATTERN 9778

A woman looks smarter and feels best in a simple tailored frock like the model sketched today. It's the sort of dress that is appropriate for mid-season worn under a coat, and later without the wrap is smart as can be for street wear. These simple details hold unusual chic—the clever bodice seaming accented by trig buttons, the attractive sleeves, and the collar close-to-the-neck fashioned of contrast. A mossy crepe, satin, faille or sheer wool would be good combined with be-galline or satin for contrast.

Pattern 9778 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 39 inch fabric and 1/2 yard contrasting.

Twin Ambitions

The Current Rate on Suckers

By IRVIN S. COBB

THE late Tom Williams dropped into a gambling house in Reno, Nevada, one night, and, playing roulette, speedily dropped his roll, but not before he had made up his mind that the game was crooked.

On his way down stairs in deep disgust he met the proprietor, Long Brown.

"What kind of a dump is this you're running?" demanded Williams. "I've just been skinned out of four hundred dollars."

"Who brought you in here?" said Brown.

"I brought myself in," said Williams.

"Oh, if that's the case," said Brown, "I owe you eighty dollars."

"How come?"

"Well, you see, I pay twenty per cent apiece for all suckers that are steered in. You appear to have steered yourself in. Here's your eighty."

MAKING BROTHERHOOD A FACT

Christianity holds that the desire and the will to practice the brotherhood of man depends upon worshipping God as the Father of all mankind. If men were to cease worshipping God, there would be lost the greatest incentive to fraternal ways among men.

If the church does nothing else than provide a meeting place for men, symbolic of the homeland of the human soul, where at all times men reaffirm their faith in the universal Fatherhood of God, it is doing the social order the greatest possible service and no other service is so important. Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

Lesson for January 28

STANDARDS OF THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 5:1-48. GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God. Matthew 5:8.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Teaches the People.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus' Rules for Right Living.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Following Christ's Ideals.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—A Christian According to Christ.

1. The Characteristics of the Subjects of the Kingdom (vv. 1-12).

Those who are members of Christ's kingdom must possess character consistent with the nature of the king.

1. The consciousness of utter spiritual poverty (v. 3). "Poor in spirit" does not mean to be without money (Isa. 66:2), but to come to the end of self in a state of absolute spiritual beggary, having no power to alter one's condition or to make oneself better.

2. Profound grief because of spiritual insolvency (v. 4). The mourning here is not because of external grief but because of the keen consciousness of personal guilt before a holy God.

3. Humble submission to God's will (v. 5). This meekness is an outgrowth of mourning over spiritual insolvency.

4. An anxious longing to conform to the laws of the kingdom (v. 6). The one who has received the righteousness of Christ as a free gift follows after the purity of character which expresses itself in deeds of righteousness.

5. Merciful (v. 7). Subjects of the kingdom now take on the character of the king. He was the preeminently merciful one.

6. Purity of heart (v. 8). Since Christ the king has absolutely pure his subjects must have purity in order to enjoy fellowship with him.

7. Peacemakers (v. 9). The one who has received the peace of God through Jesus Christ will not only be at peace with his fellows but will diffuse peace to others.

8. Suffering for Christ's sake (v. 10). The world hated Christ the king. Therefore those who reflect his spirit in their lives shall suffer persecution (II Tim. 3:12).

9. Suffer reproach (v. 11, 12). To have all manner of evil spoken against one falsely for Christ's sake is an occasion for glorying.

11. The Responsibilities of the Subjects of the Kingdom (vv. 13-16).

The subjects of the kingdom are to live such lives as to purify and enlighten those around them. Their responsibilities are set forth under the figures of salt and light.

1. Ye are the salt of the earth (v. 13). The properties of salt are (a) penetrating; (b) purifying; (c) preserving.

Since salt only preserves and purifies in the measure that it penetrates, so Christians only, as they enter into the life of the world, can preserve it from decay.

2. Ye are the light of the world (v. 14-16). The subjects of the kingdom should so live as to prevent the unwary from stumbling and falling.

III. The Laws of the Kingdom (vv. 20-48).

1. As to deeds of righteousness (v. 20). The deeds of the subjects of the kingdom must spring out of natures which are like Christ's.

2. As to sanctity of life (v. 21-26). The duty of the subject of the kingdom is to conserve and sustain his own life and the lives of others.

3. As to organized life (v. 27-32). The family is the unit of society. The two awful sins against the family are:

a. Adultery (vv. 27-30).

b. Divorce (vv. 31, 32).

4. As to oaths (vv. 33-37). Speech

HOW TO GET PUPILS TO STUDY

There are three factors that must be considered when attempting to have pupils make lessons preparation. First, the leader must not only make assignments for the next lesson, but the element of time and definiteness must enter in so that the following lesson is duly connected with the last one. The pupil's interest being aroused in the definite task assigned. Second, the teacher must develop in the pupil the art of studying which can be done by concrete examples and demonstration in the class. Third, the teacher must know thoroughly the subject he is teaching; if the teacher knows and is thoroughly interested in his subject, likely his enthusiasm will be caught by the pupils.

What are some of the functions a teacher should keep in mind when using the question and answer method of teaching?

To discover the weakness of the class. To direct attention to important points. To give organization to material studied. To stimulate interest in work at hand. To furnish incentive for individual study. To stimulate thinking.

Congratulations on Your 52nd Birthday MR. PRESIDENT...

WE arise to the toast, "Your good health, sir, and success to every hope in your heart." We know you'll treasure the gift which every good citizen proffers to you on your Birthday; honor, love and loyalty; appreciation of your earnest and energetic efforts in your country's welfare and prosperity.

This tribute, however, is not incidental to the day. It has been constantly developing with the fine Americanism that you have exhibited throughout your Administration.

Your birthday provides a fitting occasion for public expression of the high esteem in which you are held and to voice the gratitude of a nation. 1934 has ushered in a new year of promise. May it be a great one of achievement for you. May the second year of your administration be a productive and progressive one in the development of your ideals and the advancement of our national security.

Our prayers, our patriotism, our promises of cooperation are with you and for you, true to the traditions of national support that attended Washington and Lincoln when great leadership and great loyalty emerged triumphant.

THE GREATEST BIRTHDAY PARTY

In American History

IN more than 5000 cities in the United States there is to be held on Tuesday, January 30th, a Birthday Ball in honor of President Roosevelt, the day of his 52nd birthday.

This idea was originated by a Committee of the president's friends who have organized the movement on a national scale with the purpose of deriving funds therefrom for the Warm Springs, (Ga.) Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, a fund which Mr. Roosevelt was instrumental in establishing and of which he is President.

It is a graceful and gratifying compliment to the President that his birthday be dedicated to such a worthy cause. There will be no general solicitation to the fund authorized nor will contributions be accepted in any form other than from the sale of tickets for The Birthday Party from which source a major portion will be transmitted to the Infantile Paralysis Foundation.

Circleville's Birthday Ball for the President will be held Tuesday, January, 30 at the C. A. C. Gym and the Memorial Hall. Tickets are 75c per person and patron tickets are $2.50. Tickets are now on sale. Do your part. Attend as a compliment to your President. Be a contributor to a project in which he is so heartily in sympathy.

Da Preem on Beach Roadwork

Primo Carnera puts the stern business of training to defend his title out of his mind for a while and relaxes amid a bevy of bathing beauties at Miami Beach, Fla. He is to meet Tommy Loughran in his first defense of the heavyweight championship next month at Miami.

Ashville Girls Lose to Scioto

Ashville girls were handed their first defeat of the season and the boys were given their initial scare when they journeyed to Commercial Point for a pair of 'naturals' Friday evening with Scioto-twp.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

CIRCLEVILLE's basketball season from here in seems headed to despair. The second round of the Central Buckeye league opens next Friday with Marysville scheduled on the Union-co court. The showing of the wearers of the Red and Black have shown in the season or far has been entirely disappointing. Two victories have been placed on the local side of the ledger. Williamsport and Groveport falling before the Tigers. Although the latter contest was a well-played one, the victory over Williamsport was nothing to scream about.

Nothing has been won in the Central Buckeye league. The showing Friday evening was very dismal. The first half was thrilling, but the second half, well, fans who saw the game know what happened then; those who were not there are not interested enough to know anything.

The question before Circleville sports followers is: "What is the trouble?" Certainly schools have off years. Certainly a team can't win all the time, but barring one successful basketball season two years ago, the Tigers have not had a successful season of any kind for six or eight years. THAT IS TOO LONG FOR ANY TOWN WHERE THERE ARE ANY SPORTS-FANS TO STOMACH AND LIKE. "Where does the trouble lie? you ask. That, too, is a question which we do not care to answer. It isn't because Circleville's athletes are consistently smaller than others, although this year's cage team does run below the average, and it isn't because there isn't support ready to throw itself behind the football and basketball teams, because it is certain and has been proved Circleville will support TRYING teams, but there are mighty few fans who will go to see the kind of exhibition the athletes wearing the Circleville colors put on in the last half of the Grandview game last night. Frankly, it was pathetic.

This typewriter had better stop printing pretty soon or the janitor is apt to write something which he shouldn't for the good of all concerned.

There seems to be some interest in an inter-city recreation ball league to play games on Sunday afternoon. Several local fans and ball players have expressed their desire to see such a league function. Now comes a story written by Al Zurcher, Chillicothe 'novelist' (send the quarter in a money-order, Al), which says: "With softball being discussed on street corners every warm day that comes along, it is interesting to learn that there is a possibility that an intercity Sunday afternoon recreation ball league may be formed this summer."

BABB TO WORK COUNTY GAMES

Popular Wilmington Whistle-Blower Contracts With Dr. Blackburn for Tournery.

Dr. A. D. Blackburn, New Holland, manager of the Pickaway-co basketball tournament—where, oh where may it be—announced Saturday that Kroger Babb, of Wilmington, popular cage official, will handle the county games to be played Saturday, Feb. 17, Friday, Feb. 23, and Saturday, Feb. 24.

This will be the first within our memory that but one official has handled the county games. Maybe tournament officials are expecting easier games, or maybe they consider Babb as good as two men. That's all beside the point; Babb is a good official and should not only prove very efficient, but should add color to the contests. A young man, and a sports-writer by trade, Babb comes here highly recommended and with the endorsement of Dr. Blackburn who knows him intimately. The site of the tournament has not yet been decided upon.

The guns don't mean a thing. We had to carry them around to protect ourselves from holdup men and gangsters who don't like us. Ninety-nine per cent of what we are being accused of is false. We have been blamed for everything that's happened in the Midwest for the last two months. The police had to make goats out of somebody. We don't embauch; that we terrorized Illinois or Indiana. Perhaps it's just as well that we are in jail. We were tired and needed a good rest.

An optimist is a person who never expects to read another definition of an optimist. Maybe that Scotch sea serpent was a pink elephant.

C. Young and Surveyor Howard Sweetman.

A new aspect was placed on the county recorder's situation today when a three-judge court of appeals in session in Columbus declared a term-extender voted last March by the state legislature as unconstitutional. As a result elections in all Ohio counties this fall seem certain.

Mrs. Mary G. Morris is at present the county's recorder. The decision of the court, which declared invalid the entire act extending terms of recorders to four years and allowing incumbents two more years in office without an election, was handed down here in the case of Attorney William H. Schneider of Columbus, who sought to compel the Franklin-co board of elections to accept his petition as a candidate for county recorder.

The decision was written by Judge Roy H. Williams of Sandusky and was concurred in by Judges William Klingner of Lima and Charles A. Guernsey of Fostoria, sitting on the Franklin-co bench by designation. The primary is in August and the general election in November.

QUARTET TO SING

Otterbsin College Youths Appear at Dresbach, United Brethren Churches.

The Varsity quartet of Otterbsin college, comprised of Richard Whittington, Charles Shaw, Robert Holmes, and Troy Beldon, will appear at the United Brethren church Sunday at 7:30 p. m. The youths will also sing on Sunday afternoon at the Dresbach U. B. church.

These young men have sung together since their high school days starting their musical careers in one of Lima's schools. As a high school quartet they won in the 1930 Northwestern Elstedford, were members of the Detroit National chorus in 1931, and were winners of the state high school contest.

They have been singing together in college and are now in their junior year. They are in great demand for churches, high schools, and service clubs and broadcast every week from Columbus. The youths are practically working their way through college with their singing.

The public is welcome to attend the services at which the musicians will appear.

POLICE GUARD STAR ACTRESS

Couple Follows Mary Pickford; Star Receives Threats Through Mail.

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—Leaving Boston under police escort after receiving a "crank" letter and complaining of being followed by a strange man and woman, Mary Pickford, "America's sweetheart" of the films was near Falmouth on Cape Cod today, as a guest at the home of a magazine editor and his wife. She will go to Providence, R. I., tomorrow, to en-train for New York.

The letter, written in a scrawling hand, was addressed "Mrs. Mary Pickford Douglas." It was discounted as the work of a crank who apparently confused the first and last names of her husband, Douglas Fairbanks.

Miss Pickford, however, was greatly disturbed over the annoyance by the man and woman. She told police the couple had followed her persistently between her hotel and a Boston theatre where she was making a personal appearance this week. They invaded both places, she said, attempting to talk with her.

The woman, stylishly dressed and with a cultured voice, threatened: "We will see you before the night is over."

The two officers assigned to Miss Pickford, escorted her by automobile to Onset bridge, where they turned their charge over to a man in uniform, whom they thought to be a state trooper.

Later, she was reached at the Falmouth home of her friends, but refused to discuss the affair. "I am so tired," she said, "and I can't talk to you."

Asked why she had the police escort, Miss Pickford answered: "That is something I can't discuss."

She also refused to say whether she was still under guard at the Falmouth retreat. She was visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fulton Oursler. Oursler is the editor of Liberty magazine, and his wife is a writer, Grace Perkins. Their home is at Falmouth cliff, overlooking Buzzard's bay.

Miss Margie Hunsicker, W. Union-st., is spending the week-end with Miss Roberta Bolin of Columbus.

New "Knee-Action" Chevrolet Gives Passengers Ride Like a Glide

In the design and development of the new 1934 Chevrolet, particular attention has been given to driver and passenger comfort, all annoying sensations of disagreeable sound and feeling having been eliminated. The upper photo shows the new Chevrolet coach with its long, sleek lines. Wind rush has been eliminated by the Fisher No Draft Ventilators and the new streamlined bodies. Chevrolet's "Knee-Action" wheels enjoy the advantage of being completely enclosed in a weather-tight housing the coil springs and shock absorbers ride in a bath of oil. William E. Holler, Chevrolet general sales manager, is shown at the left holding a chart which shows the internal construction of the system. The radiator of the new car has added beauty through its graceful and sharply pointed design. Smoothness has been the theme in every line of this year's Chevrolet.

The driver and passengers in the new 1934 Chevrolet get a ride like the glide of an airplane. One of the main factors in improving the riding qualities of the new car to such a great extent is the "Knee-Action"—or independently sprung front wheels, to use the technical term. So much has been written about independent springing that the public is doubtless inclined that it is something too technical to understand. As a matter of fact, there is nothing complicated about either the principle involved or the construction of the system. Chevrolet's "Knee-Action" enjoys the advantage of being enclosed in a welded weather-tight housing in which the entire spring mechanism and shock absorbers ride up and down in a bath of oil. An automobile gives a perfect ride when both the front and rear springs have the same "frequency," or motion. Actually this has been impossible to be over-ridely to the frame. From this enclosed unit the wheels spring vertically at the ends of strong, steel horizontal arms.

Obituary

Milton Gilbert Lester

Lester and Sarah Gibson was born near Columbus, Pickaway County, Ohio, in 1863. Died at his home in Circleville, Ohio, May 17, 1931, of heart disease, induced by arterio-sclerosis.

Mr. Lester married Ida Anderson, daughter of the late Lewis and Mary Patton Anderson. May 17, 1891, who survives.

Of his immediate family, there remains a sister, Mrs. Laura Lester, of Commercial Point, Ohio, and a brother, Anthony M. Lester, of Circleville, Ohio.

Mr. Lester followed the occupation of farming the greater part of his life and the past three years has been caretaker of Hillside cemetery.

At 68 years of his business life, not only in the community in which he lived but throughout the entire county, he built for himself an enviable reputation as a worthy citizen of honesty, industry and sobriety, faithful to all responsibilities.

His wide circle of friends, though greatly missing him, will ever cherish his memory.

Sleep on, beloved, sleep and take thy rest; Lay down thy head upon the Savior's breast. We love thee well, but Jesus loves thee best— Good-night, beloved, Goodnight.

Until the shadow from the earth is cast, Until His gathers in His ransomed, Until the twilight gloom is over— Goodnight, Goodnight.

Only "Goodnight" beloved, not "Farewell!" A little while and all His saints shall dwell in hallowed union indivisible Goodnight.

Until we meet again before His throne, Clothed in the spotless robes He gives His own Until we know ever as we are known Goodnight, beloved, Goodnight.

Time to Check

(An Editorial)

By E. I. Gephart

Next Monday marks the opening of a new semester. What does it mean to you? It means the closing of another semester and the beginning of another year at our school.

Schools having semester programs undergo an almost complete reorganization at the opening of the semester. Our organization is affected little as it is a semester program and very few new courses are offered for the second semester.

The closing of the semester means that we have finished one-half of the school year. It is time to check our accomplishments and to endeavor to remedy them. It is a time to view with pride the record we have attained. The new semester offers an opportunity for a new start. What does the new semester change mean to you?

Girl Reserves

A feature of the Girl Reserves meeting on Thursday was a reading of the story "England to America."

The tale was told in two parts by Virginia Cady and Elsie Schinner. A group discussion of fine points of the story was held at the close of the meeting. This splendid story, so replete with pathos and strength, was as interesting to the Junior High classes this last month as the program committee selected it to be the feature of the program.

SECOND SEMESTER STARTING MONDAY WILL OFFER THREE NEW COURSES

The second semester which begins next Monday will find one course entirely new at C. H. S. and two other courses which have been taught in previous years.

Business, a new course to be offered, is a second semester subject to follow business law. The subject is open to juniors and seniors. The class instructors will be Mr. Cress and Mr. Poven.

Sanitation follows Occupations as a second semester course and is open to freshmen, and on permission to sophomores. Mr. Herberholz will have charge of the class.

Solid geometry under the supervision of Miss Mattinson will be offered to juniors and seniors the second semester. This will take the place of advanced algebra.

HILL FINISHES ATHLETIC CAREER

GAINES HILL.

He Has Been a Conscientious Worker At All Times, Says Coach.

The finale of one of the most brilliant careers in the history of C. H. S. athletics occurred last night when the curtain fell at the finish of the Grandview game.

The athletic career of Gaines Hill has been a history worth recounting from start to finish.

In his first year Gaines was out for football, basketball, and track, receiving a letter in football.

The second year Hill participated in football only, and at the end of the season withdrew from school.

This non-attendance for a semester caused Gaines to be ineligible in his third year until the second half, when he was a member of the basketball and track squads.

The fourth year rewarded the subject of this sketch with letters in football and track.

The semester just ended, therefore, represented Hill's ninth semester in school, and his eighth semester of participation in athletics. This found him playing fullback and tackle of the football team of which he was captain, and also a member of the Varsity basketball team.

According to Coach Herberholz, Gaines has been a conscientious worker at all times. He has rarely missed a practice and those missed were due to a very severe shoulder injury.

Gaines Hill will be hard to replace in the athletic annals of Circleville high school.

The Sportsmen

A certain lad was requested to relieve the gymnasium of its burden of dirt by Coach "Pete" Herberholz, mentor of athletics. The young person promptly anchored himself on the end of one manual training department's special dirt removers and went to work. When he arrived home he was due for a second tongue lashing for soiling his shirt which he had only worn since noon.

"The way of the transgressors is hard."

Our New Year's resolution was to mention at least one favorable comment on the cheer-leaders and cheering section in each issue of "The Sportsmen."

Jr. Girl Reserves Will Entertain Hi-Y, Sr. Girl Reserves Jan. 31

CHS vs. Kingston Next Sat. Night

Every girl at C. H. S. is looking forward to Saturday, February 3, when C. H. S. girls' basketball team will meet the girls' team of Kingston high school on the C. A. C. gym floor.

The Kingston outfit is considered to be the strongest and best girls' team in Ross county.

The boys' varsity will also play Kingston that night.

The state of Texas was represented in our enrollment last week when Mary Sall joined the Junior class.

Mary formerly lived at Arlington, Texas.

To Plan Annual

Plans will be underway early next semester to determine whether or not it is possible to publish an annual this year.

The publication of "The Circle" has been a yearly affair since 1905, when the students of Everts high school issued the first book.

Minstrel To Be Presented Under Direction of Miss Hitler.

The evening of Wednesday, January 31, is being eagerly looked forward to by all the members of the Girl Reserves and Hi-Y. At this time the Jr. Girl Reserves will act as hostesses to the other two clubs.

A minstrel will be presented under the direction of Miss Marian Hitler, in which the Jr. Girl Reserves will be the comedians.

The party will be held in the high school auditorium. The curtain will go up promptly at 7:30 p. m.

After the program lunch will be served in the gym by a committee consisting of Margie Mader, June West, Evelyn Wolfe, and Gene Lucas.
